Rear Garden

South easterly facing garden immediately behind the French doors leading from the kitchen is a delightful seating area which has been made by Regatta Outdoors. The garden structure is a louvered roof pergola which is also widely referred to as a bioclimatic or modern louvered gazebo. It is made from contemporary aluminium construction and features adjustable overhead slatted blades that can be rotated using a manual crank, this allows you to tilt the slats to let in sunlight and improve airflow or close them fully to create a watertight roof that funnels rainwater into an integrated gutter system and it also provides shade on a hot summer's day. This is a real feature to the garden.

The garden also has a large paved area which is extremely well maintained with an excellent range of flower/shrub borders, a rear area of lawn, two good sized timber sheds in good condition which will remain. The entire garden is enclosed by panel fencing and is completely un-overlooked from the rear with side access gate to a passageway to the front of the property.
