The Agent that goes the Extra Mile

This charming end-of-terrace cottage, located in the sought-after hamlet of Ffynnonddrain near Carmarthen, is full of character and traditional appeal. Showcasing a wealth of original features, the property boasts exposed stonework, rustic beams, and inviting fireplaces that enhance its warm and homely atmosphere.

The ground floor offers versatile living accommodation, including two reception rooms, both benefiting from feature fireplaces, creating cosy spaces ideal for relaxation and entertaining. There is also an open plan country-style kitchen/diner, perfect for family living, alongside a practical utility room and a well-appointed family bathroom featuring a separate shower and a freestanding roll-top bath tub. The property further benefits from UPVC double glazing and is fitted with oil central heating.

Upstairs, the first floor comprises three double bedrooms, with the master bedroom benefiting from its own dressing area, each offering comfortable living space and retaining the cottage's charming character.

Externally, to the rear, the property enjoys a low-maintenance garden with various patio areas and a charming summer house—ideal for outdoor dining and relaxation. The garden also benefits from lovely views across the surrounding countryside, further enhancing the appeal of this idyllic home. To the front of the cottage there is one off road parking space, with further on-street parking available.

This delightful home perfectly blends traditional features with functional living, further enhanced by its idyllic setting with lovely country walks right on the doorstep—making it an ideal choice for those seeking a characterful property in a peaceful rural location.

Ffynnonddrain is a small hamlet on the outskirts of the County town Carmarthen. The County town of Carmarthen lays claim to being the oldest town in Wales, boasting a strong Roman heritage dating back to AD c75. Situated on the River Towy eight miles north of its mouth at Carmarthen Bay, the town is the location of the headquarters of Dyfed Powys Police, the Carmarthen Campus of The University of Wales, Trinity Saint David and The West Wales General Hospital. The town is well served by numerous primary schools and two secondary schools offering education through the medium of Welsh and English. The former cattle market in the heart of the town has undergone massive regeneration and the new shopping centre now houses most high street names, an Apollo Cinema complex, restaurants, bars and a multi-storey car park. The town is also served by direct inter city trains from West Wales to London.

DIRECTIONS

From Carmarthen continue up water street out of town. Continue to follow the road towards Trevaughan. At the fork in the road by the fire station take the right hand turn signposted Ffynnonddrain. Entering the village of Ffynnonddrain there is a row of cottages on the left, where the property is located. What/Three/Words:///tests.sweat.feast
