Area Information

Latchingdon is located at the edge of the Dengie Peninsular, a largely agricultural area positioned between the Blackwater estuary and river Crouch. With its vast coastline the area is very popular for sailing and other water sports, particularly from the nearby maritime towns of Maldon and Burnham. The surrounding villages are home to a number of country pubs with often historic centres and pretty parish churches. Latchingdon has a number of local amenities including village shop, garage and pubs. There is a Church of England primary school with secondary schooling found at nearby Maldon, South Woodham Ferrers and Burnham on Crouch. For the commuter there are branch line rail services at nearby Althorne and North Fambridge.
