

Gilbert House is a striking and highly individual three-bedroom detached home, occupying an enviable position within Bicester's sought-after Garden Quarter. Constructed approximately ten years ago, the property was thoughtfully designed to reflect the architectural character and proportions of the original buildings found across this historic former RAF site, while providing all the comfort, efficiency and clean lines expected of a contemporary home.

The front door opens into a welcoming entrance hall with useful storage and a stylish cloakroom with space for the washing machine. Beyond lies the open-plan kitchen, dining and living space, which extends across almost the entire ground floor. Floor-to-ceiling glazing wraps around much of the room, flooding the interior with natural light and creating an exceptional connection with the private garden.

The kitchen has been finished with high-quality contemporary cabinetry, generous preparation space, integrated appliances and a central island incorporating a breakfast bar.

The remainder of the room offers clearly defined areas for family dining, relaxation and entertaining, while the impressive open-tread staircase with glazed balustrading provides a striking architectural focal point. Several sets of glazed doors open directly onto the terrace and garden, allowing the indoor and outdoor spaces to flow beautifully during the warmer months.

The first-floor landing is enhanced by a dramatic double-height void and leads to three well-proportioned bedrooms.

The principal bedroom has its own en-suite shower room and direct access to the extensive balcony. The second bedroom also opens onto the balcony, while bedroom three provides a generous and versatile additional room with floor-to-ceiling windows. A smartly appointed family bathroom completes the accommodation

The balcony extends across the rear elevation and enjoys an attractive outlook over the garden and surrounding greenery, providing an additional outdoor space from which to relax and appreciate the property's peaceful setting.

Outside, the private and enclosed garden is of a generous size, offering considerable scope for landscaping and providing plenty of room for outdoor dining, recreation and family life.

A paved terrace adjoins the house, while established boundary planting creates an attractive sense of seclusion. The property also benefits from allocated parking spaces to the front of the house.

Gilbert House has been maintained and improved by its current owners, with notable recent investment including the installation of a new boiler and the replacement of the flat roof. Its distinctive architecture, exceptional open-plan living space and abundance of natural light combine to create a home quite unlike anything else currently available locally.
