The location is perhaps one of the most popular residential areas in Plymouth, sitting within close distance of the city centre, but also with great transport links to both the northern city areas and the A38.

The property itself has recently undergone some refresh works making it well presented, is particularly spacious in size and has private rear garden with pedestrian side access.

The kitchen/breakfast room is generous in dimensions, there is gas central heating, double glazing double bedroom and a bright and airy living room too.
