Building plot in Staunton

A rare and exciting opportunity to acquire an individual building plot in the Gloucestershire village of Staunton, with planning permission granted for the construction of an impressive four-bedroom modern detached home.

The plot occupies a generous and established position, offering the opportunity to create a substantial individual residence with a particularly attractive amount of outside space. The accompanying site plan illustrates the proposed home positioned within its own private plot, together with private access, driveway parking and extensive landscaped gardens.

The approved scheme has been carefully designed to make the most of the site, creating a modern four-bedroom family home whilst retaining a strong connection with the surrounding gardens and established residential setting. The proposed layout provides an exciting opportunity for a purchaser to create a bespoke home designed around modern family living, rather than purchasing an existing property and compromising on location, layout or specification.

The accompanying photographs also provide a good impression of the existing setting and outlook, with the plot surrounded by established properties, mature greenery and attractive village surroundings.

Building plots of this nature, particularly those offering the combination of planning permission, generous outside space and an established village location, are rarely available.

Whether you are looking to build your dream family home, undertake a self-build project or secure an individual residential development opportunity, this is an exciting prospect.
