BEDROOM ONE 13'4" max x 9'2" max

Flooded with natural light through the rear window and Velux with woodland views is this generous size double bedroom which has ample room for bedroom furniture and spotlights to the ceiling. A door opens to the second floor landing.

BEDROOM TWO 9'2" max x 8'6" max

Another double bedroom filled with natural light through its window and a Velux, offering a view over the street below. There is space for bedroom furniture, spotlights to the ceiling and a door opens to the second floor landing.

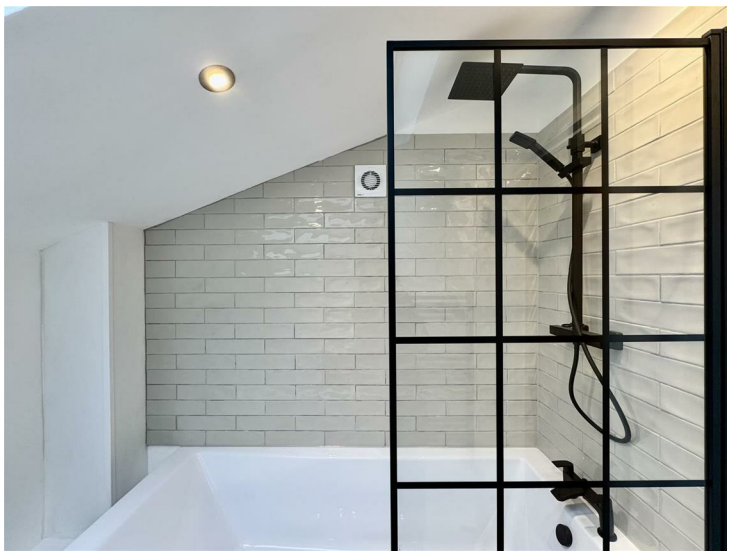

BATHROOM 7'6" max x 6'2" max

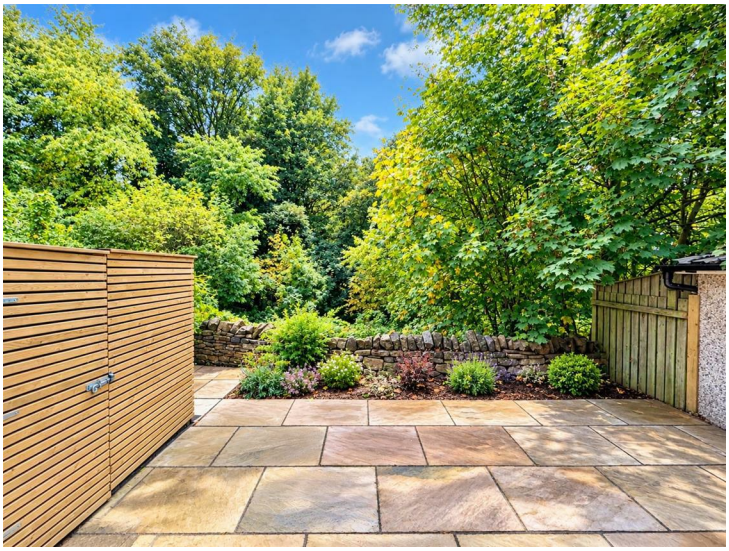

This attractive bathroom comprises of a three piece white suite including a bath with waterfall shower over and glazed screen, a hand wash basin with mixer tap which sits upon a vanity unit and a low level W.C. The bathroom is partially tiled with complimentary floor tiles, anthracite towel radiator, Velux window, spot lights and a door which opens to the second floor landing.

REAR GARDEN

The rear garden features an Indian stone patio, providing an ideal space for outdoor dining and relaxation. Enjoying a wonderfully private setting, the garden backs onto mature woodland, creating a peaceful and leafy backdrop. A timber gate allows access to the side of the property.

EXTERNAL FRONT AND DRIVEWAY

To the front of the property is a driveway for one vehicle with an EV charger.

An area provides space for the bins and there is room for decorative pots and planters if desired.

10 SOLAR PANELS

Solar panels primarily benefit you by reducing household electricity bills, generating passive income through surplus energy, and lowering your carbon footprint. A typical 10-panel solar system generates around (3,600) to (4,600) kilowatt-hours (kWh) of electricity annually in the UK. This breaks down to about (10) to (12.5) kWh per day on average, which is usually enough to cover 60-80% of an average household's total yearly electricity needs.
