The Property

Tucked into the popular residential development of Maes Y Dafarn in Caersws, number 15 is a beautifully presented three-bedroom detached home that has been finished and maintained to a genuinely high standard throughout. From the moment you arrive, the property makes a strong impression: a smart red-brick exterior with solar panels, a slate-effect roof, a charcoal composite front door and a neatly kept driveway providing generous off-road parking.

Inside, the home is immediately striking for its brightness. The reception room sits at the front of the house and is a generous, well-proportioned space, bay-windowed and flooded with natural light. A dramatic dark feature wall frames a slate-effect fireplace housing a wood-burning stove, with an oak mantel and floating shelves above, creating a focal point that is both bold and inviting. Wood flooring runs underfoot and the room connects through to the kitchen dining room beyond.

The kitchen dining room has been thoughtfully fitted with grey shaker-style cabinetry, dark worktops and a marble-effect splashback, with integrated appliances including an oven, gas hob with extractor over, dishwasher and washing machine. Open shelving adds a relaxed contemporary feel, and a corner dining arrangement with bench seating makes this a genuinely sociable space for everyday family life. A door leads out to the side of the property.

To the rear of the ground floor, the conservatory is a lovely addition, a bright, glass-roofed space that looks directly out over the garden and brings the outside in throughout the warmer months. The converted garage, now used as a study, is a substantial and versatile room that would serve equally well as a fourth bedroom, playroom or hobby space depending on the needs of the incoming family.

Upstairs, the landing is light and airy with a glazed oak balustrade and a window to the rear. The master bedroom is a calm, well-presented double with fitted wardrobes, carpeted flooring and a window to the front, and an en-suite shower room. Bedroom two is another comfortable double, and bedroom three, whilst the smallest of the three, is a well-proportioned single. The family bathroom is fitted with a panel bath with shower attachment, pedestal wash basin and WC, complemented by part-tiled walls and patterned tile flooring.

The rear garden is a real strength of this property, generously sized, thoughtfully landscaped and clearly well-loved. A paved patio extends from the conservatory, ideal for outdoor dining, while a gravelled seating area provides a dedicated spot for outdoor entertaining. The lawned section is neatly kept and fully enclosed by close-board fencing, with a raised timber border to one side. There is also a timber storage lean-to, a garden shed, and plenty of space for children to play.

A well-loved family home that has been cared for with real attention to detail, 15 Maes Y Dafarn offers generous, versatile accommodation in a pleasant and well-connected village setting.
