The Property

Heulfron is a handsome 1930s detached family home in one of Mid Wales' most sought-after villages, combining period character with modern comfort and family-friendly space. Owned since 2018 and beautifully redecorated throughout, it offers generous accommodation and wraparound gardens of roughly a third of an acre that open towards the surrounding countryside. A new porch and front door set the tone on arrival, and a private driveway provides ample parking in front of the integral double garage.

Step inside to a lovely, light entrance hall with exposed staircase rising to a large galleried landing. From here the accommodation flows naturally. The main reception room runs the full width of the house, a superb family space with bay window to the front and French doors at the rear straight out to the patio and gardens — ideal for everyday living and larger gatherings. There are exposed beams and two coal-effect gas fires in the principal rooms; the original chimneys remain in place should a future owner wish to install log burners.

A separate dining room offers an excellent setting for family meals and entertaining, with another bay window and period detail. The country kitchen is practical and social in equal measure, with an island and good worktop/storage provision, and it links neatly to the adjoining utility room and a downstairs WC.

Completing the ground floor is a self-contained office, created as part of the later extension. It benefits from its own separate entrance, making it ideal as a dedicated workspace, studio or consultation room.

Moving upstairs, the staircase rises to a large, airy galleried landing, a real feature of the house that sets the tone for the accommodation above. From here, you step into the stunning principal suite, created in 2020 from a former annexe. This generous bedroom is bathed in natural light and opens through sliding glass doors to a private balcony with far-reaching countryside views. The suite also boasts a superb walk-in wardrobe with fitted storage and shelving, and a spacious, modern en-suite shower room — a true retreat within the home.

There are three further well-proportioned double bedrooms, each with their own outlook, and a smaller double currently used as a hobby room/study, offering flexibility for family life or home working. The family bathroom includes a bath, walk-in shower, wash basin and WC. Throughout the upstairs, a number of period features remain, from exposed floorboards to an original hearth stone and picture rails, lending the home warmth, character and a sense of history.

Outside, Heulfron really comes into its own for families. The plot extends to around one third of an acre with established, wraparound gardens. To the rear, a large paved patio accessed from the living room becomes an effortless extension of the internal space — perfect for entertaining, barbecues and play — while the generous lawn rises towards open countryside with lovely views. Mature hedging provides enclosure, with well-stocked borders and trees adding structure and seasonal interest. The front garden faces south and catches the sun for most of the day. Parking is plentiful on the private driveway, forecourt, and the integral garage (currently divided into two spaces) has power and water and could readily be opened back into one if preferred. There's also a useful store — perfect for the lawnmower, tools, or tidying away children's toys after a day playing in the garden.

Blending 1930s character with modern comfort, five bedrooms including a standout master suite, a dedicated home office with separate entrance, and family-friendly gardens, Heulfron is a light, beautifully presented home in a popular village setting — ready for its next chapter.

The Location

Bettws Cedewain is one of the most sought-after villages in Montgomeryshire, well-regarded for its strong community, attractive setting, and convenient location. Nestled in the Severn Valley just three miles from Newtown, the village combines the charm of rural life with excellent access to larger towns and transport links.

The village itself has a welcoming and active atmosphere. At its centre is the traditional Bull & Heifer pub, alongside a well-supported village hall which hosts community events and activities. The surrounding lanes, farmland, and wooded hills provide a beautiful setting for walking and outdoor pursuits. Bettws is also known as the home of Bettws Hall, a world-renowned sporting estate, which adds to the village's wider reputation. Nearby is Gregynog Hall, a historic house and estate famed for its gardens, concerts, and cultural events, which is open to the public and contributes to the area's appeal.

Families are well-served for education locally. The nearest primary school is Ysgol Rhiw Bechan, located just outside the village, while secondary education is available at Newtown High School, with further options in Llanfair Caereinion and Welshpool. For further education, Newtown College provides a wide range of courses and training opportunities.

The nearby market town of Newtown offers supermarkets, shops, restaurants, cafés, medical facilities, as well as the Robert Owen Museum and Theatr Hafren for cultural and leisure activities. The historic town of Welshpool lies around 10 miles to the north, while the university town of Aberystwyth on the coast is just over an hour's drive away.

Despite its rural setting, Bettws Cedewain is well-connected. Local bus services run through the village, and Newtown railway station on the Cambrian Line provides direct trains to Shrewsbury and the West Midlands in one direction, and to Machynlleth and the Cambrian Coast in the other. The A483 and A458 give convenient road links to Shrewsbury, Chester, and beyond.

With its thriving community, enviable location, and excellent connections, Bettws Cedewain remains one of the most desirable villages in Mid Wales to call home.
