Studham is an aspirational location, voted one of Britain's poshest villages by The Telegraph. Encompassing an environment of largely green, leafy landscapes, it's within the 324-acre Chiltern Hills AONB. It has its own expanse of meadows and woods at its Common – a Country Wildlife Site granted a prestigious Green Flag Award. The Common also hosts the May Fair.

It's rural in Studham, but not too remote. There are two all-important pubs on the doorstep, and amenities and leisure are abundant to pretty market towns in the area, including Berkhamsted, Tring and Dunstable. Both Harpenden and St Albans are equally as easy to reach.

A big appeal for parents is the Ofsted 'Outstanding' primary, with secondary, private and independent schooling nearby. Living in pastoral, peaceful Studham offers a wonderful way to wind down together, and is even better for putting on your walking boots for a whole-family hike through the countryside.
