Despite its rural setting, Pensford offers a welcoming village atmosphere with a selection traditional pubs, a village shop with post office all serving as hubs for local life. The surrounding Chew Valley countryside provides scenic walking routes, nature spots and easy access to outdoor activities. Children within the village often attend the Chew Valley schools

Outdoor enthusiasts enjoy nearby footpaths and circular walks that weave through fields, woodlands and riverbanks, taking in the best of Somerset's gentle landscapes. The area is also close to amenities including lakes at Chew Valley and Blagdon, ideal for sailing, fishing and birdwatching.
