What the owner says:

"We've really loved living at 9 Wigmore Close. The house has a calm, peaceful feel that's quite hard to find in Brighton, while still being really well connected to everything. Every room feels a good size and the layout has worked brilliantly for family life, but the south-facing garden has definitely been the highlight for us. We've spent so much time out there eating outside, relaxing, gardening and enjoying the wildlife — it honestly feels like an extra room during the warmer months. Our son has absolutely loved growing up here too. The location has also been ideal: close to the South Downs for walks, within easy walking distance of town, and with great bus routes including the number 50 almost to the door. The double off-street parking is something we didn't know existed in Brighton, and something we've probably taken for granted since living here. No worrying about permits or hunting for a space. It's truly been a perfect home for us."
