What the owner says:

"We have loved living on Ditchling Rise for the last 14 years. It is a wonderfully vibrant community, and we are so lucky to have a host of friendly neighbours surrounding us. We have (in our opinion!) Brighton's nicest park, Preston Park, just a few minutes round the corner and the historic Duke of York cinema a two minute walk away, alongside all of the great cafes, eateries and shops on London Road. Our local pub, the Signyman, has a large beer garden and serves great food, as does the Open House on the other side on the railway bridge. On top of all that, we are less than a minute away from London Road train station, making any commute to London, or towards Eastbourne, really straightforward. The beach, the Laines, the town centre and Fiveways are also all really easy to get to on foot or by bus. We will be very sorry to leave Ditchling Rise and our comfortable family home, with it's sunny south-facing garden (a rare find in this area!). We hope that whoever lives here next enjoys the house and the local community as much as we have."
