Price Guide £439,950

A well-proportioned period-style home with modern efficiency, positioned within easy walking distance of the town centre, parks and river walks. The property offers elevated ceilings, strong natural light and balanced accommodation, including a spacious sitting room with bay window, a well-appointed living kitchen with dining space, additional reception room, and a principal bedroom with en suite, together with off-street parking and garden. Offered to the market with no onward chain.

The Property

On entry, a vestibule leads through to a wide reception hall where the proportions of the home are immediately clear. The sitting room is a standout space, with elevated ceilings in keeping with its Victorian style, a large sash bay window overlooking the gardens, and excellent natural light.

The living kitchen is well fitted with coordinating base and wall units, solid wood work surfaces, a range of integrated appliances and illuminated display cabinets. There is space for a dining table and chairs, finished with engineered oak flooring and a window to the rear. A short set of steps leads down to the day room, continuing the oak flooring and offering a flexible additional reception space. Beyond this sits the utility room, with a cloakroom completing the ground floor.

To the first floor, a generous landing gives access to well-proportioned bedrooms and a four-piece bathroom suite. A further staircase leads to the principal bedroom, which benefits from its own en suite. Ceiling heights and natural light continue to be a feature throughout the upper floors.

Externally, there is off-street parking for one vehicle and a lawned garden. The position is particularly convenient, within a short walk of the town centre, local parks, leisure facilities and riverside walks.

The construction reflects the character and proportions of these period-style homes, with attention given to both layout and finish.

The market town of Thirsk

Thirsk, set within 'Herriot Country' between the Yorkshire Dales and North York Moors, offers a well-regarded setting for both everyday living and country pursuits, with a racecourse, golf courses and a range of sporting facilities nearby. The traditional market square provides a wide selection of independent shops, cafes and restaurants, while the adjoining village of Sowerby retains its own identity, with tree-lined Front Street, historic buildings, Cod Beck and local amenities including a public house and schooling.

The area is well served for education, with primary and secondary schools in both Thirsk and Sowerby, alongside a number of respected independent schools within a 20-mile radius. For commuting, the location is particularly convenient, with access to the A1(M) and A19/A168, rail services offering direct links to London Kings Cross in under 2½ hours, and regional airports at Durham Tees Valley and Leeds Bradford within reach.
