Introduction

This fascinating detached bungalow sits within nearly two-thirds of an acre of gardens and grounds. The dwelling received planning permission in 1982 to allow for the construction of a new agricultural bungalow, with its occupation being limited to a person :employed full-time or last employed locally in agriculture, as defined in Section 221 (1) of the Town and Country Planning Act 1962, or forestry or a dependant of such a person residing with him (but including a widow or widower of such a person)". The property has been vacant for some time and thus, it is ripe for complete refurbishment, renovation and modernisation. All those interested should make their own enquiries of the local planning authority with regard to alteration/extension of the property, as well as to the relevance of the occupancy condition contained within the planning consent granted in 1982.

The bungalow formerly had vehicular access over the driveway, which is now owned by a third party and will be the accessway to 5 new dwellings that are being converted out of former farm buildings at the rear. However, it has a right of access over this driveway (as cross hatched brown on the plan in the sales details) at all times and for all purposes, with there being no liability to contribute towards the maintenance and repair of the driveway in perpetuity. Currently, as the building works are ongoing, it has been agreed with the developer that the bungalow will be accessed from the public highway via the mouth of the driveway and all interested parties are asked not to walk onto the development site for health and safety reasons. If the parking at the rear could be accessed, there is a pathway that leads up to the back door and an old pathway goes around to the front door.

This property is located less than a mile from the centre of the popular village of Welford-on-Avon, which offers a range of amenities to include; three public houses (the Bell Inn, the Four Alls Inn, and the Shakespeare Inn), general store, garage, well-regarded primary school, sports club, marina, 18-hole golf course, and two churches (the Parish Church of St Peter's and the Methodist Church). It also lies just 5.5 miles from Shakespeare's Stratford-upon-Avon to the East and 8 miles from the old Roman town of Alcester to the North-West, with both locations providing an excellent array of facilities.

The property is approached via a driveway, which also leads to the buildings (converted into residential dwellings) at the rear, that gives access to a parking area at the back of the bungalow. A pathway leads to the front and the front door opens into:
