Rarely does an opportunity like Highfield House come to the market. Located at the end of this highly desirable road, with far-reaching views over the Bollin Valley, it offers a unique blend of tranquillity and privacy, whilst conveniently just a short walk from the centre of Wilmslow.

This characterful 1930s home blends period features with contemporary living, having been completely renovated and immaculately maintained by the current owners. The spacious, versatile interior has a calm, understated elegance full of natural light and an abundance of period charm.

On the ground floor is a central entrance hall (with cloakroom & WC) which provides access to the principal reception rooms which all benefit from stunning vistas across the gardens and grounds. The reception rooms include the dining room with gorgeous oak parquet flooring and feature Limestone fireplace, drawing room with large bay with French doors to the garden and the office/library. The open plan living kitchen is ideally positioned and boasts a Harvey Jones shaker kitchen with breakfast bar, AGA and granite worksurfaces. The living area of the kitchen has a central log burning stove and French doors opening onto the garden. Accessed from the kitchen is the boot room, utility room with Belfast sink and a bright study/studio.

To the first floor is the principal bedroom with built in wardrobes, fireplace and en-suite bathroom (with separate bath and shower and underfloor heating). There are three further double bedrooms and two bathrooms (one en-suite) all accessed from a bright central landing.

Externally the property is approached via a horseshoe gravel drive with two sets of gates. The generous gardens and grounds extend to approximately 0.75 acres and enjoy a south facing aspect. The mature gardens are immaculately landscaped and consist of a large York stone terrace, raised vegetable beds, manicured lawns with specimen trees and mature borders and boasting views across the neighbouring Bollin Valley.

Wilmslow is renowned for its excellent schools and is home to a selection of fine restaurants, bars and boutique shops. The local train station offers fast direct services to both Manchester and London.
