The Property

An immaculately presented and well proportioned charming mock Georgian mid terrace located in popular and quiet pocket of Henleaze.

The property is accessed either via a level path across an attractive green to the front or from via double gates directly into the rear, south facing garden.

The current owners have taken great care of the property and it is offered in excellent decorative order with double glazing and a modern gas combination boiler.

A spacious entrance hall leads to an open plan living dining space running front to back with bay window overlooking the green and patio doors to the conservatory and then back garden.

There is a fully fitted modern kitchen with plenty of storage space in a range of matching wall and base units, stainless steel sink and drainer with mixer tap over, hatch through to dining space and rear door that leads out to the conservatory which spans the width of the property and enhances the living space considerably.

Upstairs, there is a good sized master bedroom with integrated wardrobes and an equally spacious second bedroom benefits from a southerly aspect out over the rear garden through a large, full height double glazed window that also allows for plenty of natural light.

Completing the internal accommodation there is a further bedroom as well as fully tiled family bathroom with mains fed shower over bath, basin with vanity storage and WC.

The enclosed rear garden benefits from its southerly orientation and offers a low maintenance 'sun trap'.

Location

Hobhouse Close is a quaint and ever popular enclave of Henleaze with attractive mock Georgian houses, well maintained communal lawns as well as being moments away from the comprehensive mix of retailers Henleaze High Street has to offer as well highly rated schools.
