Indus Road
Shaftesbury

Guide Price
£180,000

Set on the rural fringe of Shaftesbury, this notably spacious one-bedroom semi-detached coach house offers far more accommodation than typically expected from this style of property. Enjoying an elevated position with no houses directly opposite, the home looks out over established trees and green space, creating a surprisingly private and open feel.

The property has been occupied by the current owner for around a year and is presented in good order throughout, offering a ready-made option for first-time buyers, downsizers or investors alike. With a generous internal layout, high ceilings and excellent natural light, the accommodation feels airy and well-proportioned, while the integral garage below provides valuable storage and practicality, complete with power and lighting.

Situated within a convenient development just outside Shaftesbury, the location benefits from a local shop close by and pleasant walks directly from the doorstep, blending everyday convenience with easy access to countryside surroundings. The vendor has found an onward purchase and is motivated to proceed.

The Property

Accommodation

Inside

The accommodation is arranged over the first floor, with a private entrance leading up to a bright and welcoming open-plan kitchen, living and dining space. This is the heart of the home and immediately stands out for its scale, comfortably accommodating distinct seating and dining areas without feeling compromised.

The sitting area enjoys a high ceiling height which enhances the sense of volume, while a Juliet balcony draws in natural light and frames leafy views across the green space beyond, giving the room a calm and open outlook rarely found in similar properties.

The kitchen is modern in style, fitted with clean-lined slab units and laminate worktops, providing a practical and contemporary workspace that sits comfortably within the open-plan layout. There is ample storage and worktop space, making it well suited to everyday living.

The bedroom is a generous double, offering a peaceful retreat with space for freestanding furniture, while the bathroom is fitted with a white suite and skylight, allowing daylight to filter in and adding to the bright feel of the home.

Overall, the interior is well balanced, light-filled and notably more spacious than expected, making it an appealing and versatile home.

Outside

Beneath the accommodation sits a large integral garage, providing secure parking or excellent storage, and benefitting from both power and lighting. There is also a useful store located to the rear, tucked neatly beneath the stairs, ideal for bikes, outdoor equipment or additional belongings.

While the property does not have a garden, the outlook more than compensates. With no houses directly opposite, the Juliet balcony enjoys views across trees and communal green space, offering a pleasant sense of separation and privacy that is rarely found in similar coach house properties.

Despite its peaceful setting, Shaftesbury town centre is within easy reach, with supermarkets, doctors, dentists and an active high street all approximately a 10–15 minute walk away. This balance of convenience and accessibility makes the location particularly appealing for those seeking low-maintenance living without sacrificing everyday amenities.
