Recent extensions to the rear and side enhance the living space, allowing for greater flexibility in how you choose to utilise the home. The uPVC double glazed windows (extension) and triple glazed (main house) ensure a bright and airy environment while providing energy efficiency, complemented by the reliable oil-fired central heating system. AIR BnB INCOME

This profitable business opportunity is extremely sustainable due to the popularity of the locality as a tourist destination, it's proximity to the railway station, and the shortage of accommodation during the height of the season in the area. The business operates by utilising the booking.com portal website only for advertising. Currently, the AirBnB operates from March to end of October (except Easter holidays), trading below the VAT threshold voluntarily. However, the current model offers the opportunity to develop further by utilising other automated booking systems, such as AirBnB, as well as operating year-round, should that be desired. The turnover and profitability figures over the last few years (2021 to 2025) have remained stable and the vendor will be happy to provide the invoices to support the sale.

The business has a great online reputation as evidenced by the various reviews available on Booking.com
