Oaklands comprises a substantial detached cottage, principally stone-built having modern additions, all presented to a high standard and enjoying a delightful position along a quiet rural lane, yet with easy access to the A48, bringing Chepstow, Newport and Caldicot within easy reach, with good road access from either Newport onto the M4 or Chepstow onto the M48. This area is nestled close to the large Forestry Commission area known as Wentwood with its reservoir also close by, a really pretty and delightful part of Monmouthshire.

The property has been sensitively updated and enhanced over recent years to provide comfortable family accommodation with impressive entrance hall, attractive lounge/dining room, separate sitting room, family kitchen/breakfast room and shower room to the ground floor. To the first floor is a principal bedroom with its own en-suite bathroom, along with three double guest bedrooms and family bathroom. Furthermore, the property enjoys pleasant gardens around the house with a nearby paddock and outbuilding along with a double garage and parking.

Viewing is highly recommended.

OUTSIDE

GARDEN AND GROUNDS

The property is approached along a quiet lane to its parking area in front of a large detached double garage. The immediate gardens are of approximately a quarter of an acre, and laid extensively to lawn with mature borders, gravelled pathways and seating areas, enjoying attractive views across the open countryside towards Wentwood reservoir and beyond. A little further along the lane is the entrance to the paddock which is approximately 2.7 acres. A useful paddock area for either equestrian or other uses with the added benefit of an outbuilding.
