This charming stone-built character cottage offers two double bedrooms and has been completely renovated and refurbished by the present owners to provide spacious, flexible and beautifully presented living accommodation. An attached studio or home office, currently used as a third bedroom. Set within attractive gardens adjoining open countryside, the cottage enjoys delightful views to both the front and rear, creating a peaceful and scenic setting. Centrally positioned in the sought-after rural village of Biggin, the property is ideally located for access to an excellent range of amenities in the nearby market towns of Bakewell and Buxton.

Planning permission has been granted for a detached double garage with a home office/studio above, with foundations and base already in place, requiring completion. The skilfully finished interior combines traditional character features with high-quality fittings, resulting in a warm and welcoming home.

Accommodation begins with an entrance hallway leading to an adjoining utility room and WC. The bespoke fitted kitchen is equipped with a range of quality units, a Belfast sink and appliances and opens into a bright dual-aspect dining area featuring display shelving and double doors leading out to the garden. This space flows into the sitting room, which is centred around a striking gritstone fireplace housing a log-burning stove.

The first floor landing provides access to a spacious double bedroom with an adjoining Jack and Jill style bathroom with a free standing bath and separate shower enclosure, a dressing room that could be used as a study/nursery and further double bedroom.

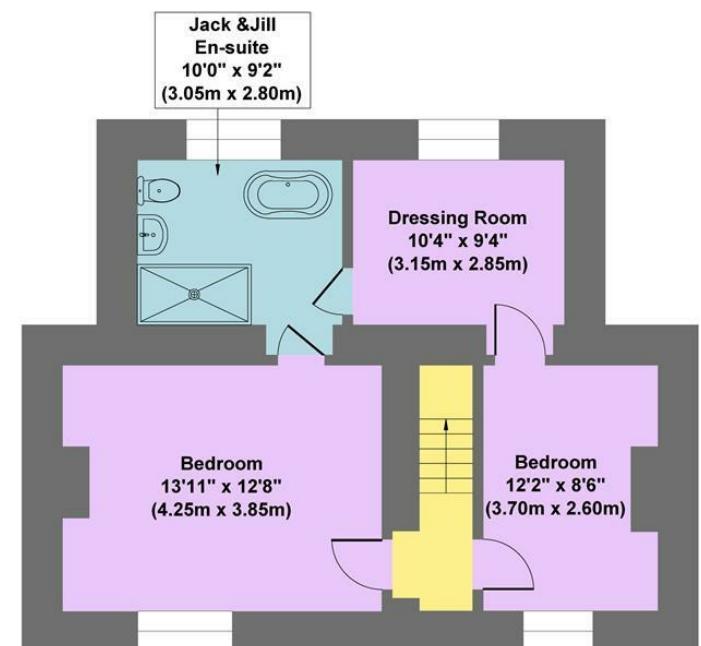

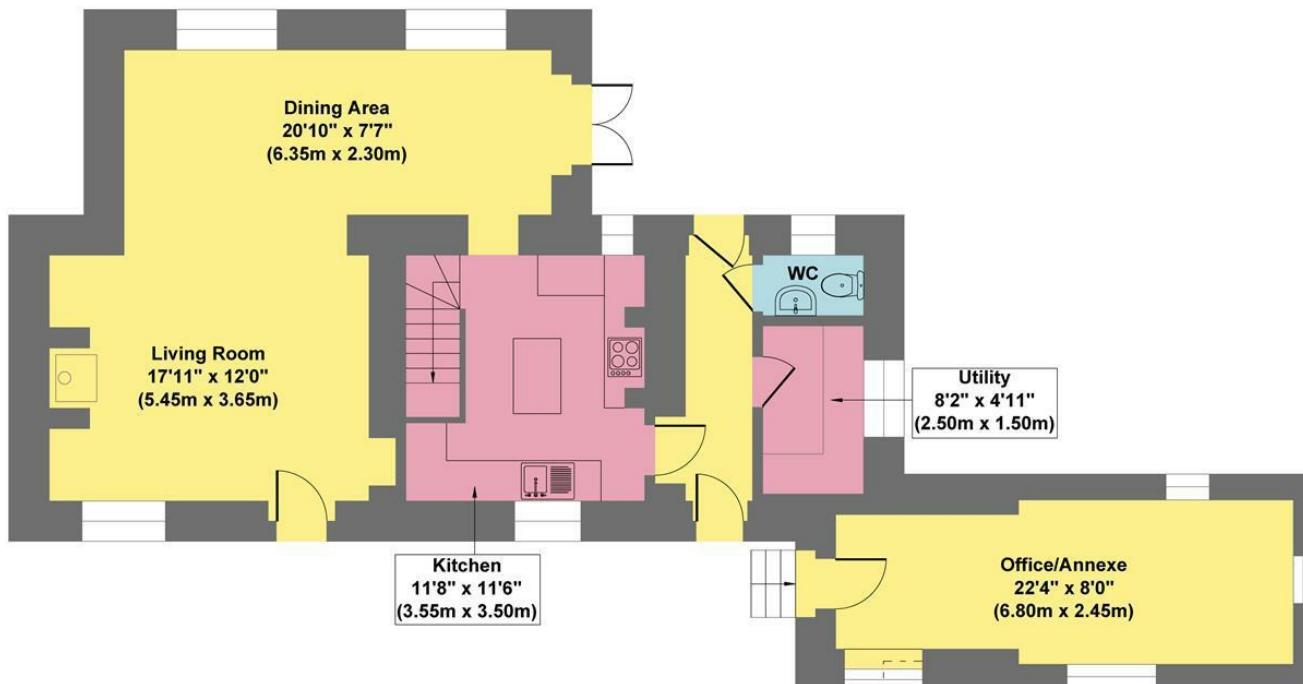

A separate entrance leads to the annexe/studio, currently arranged as an additional bedroom and fitted with a wash hand basin, making it ideal for guests or home working.
