Situation.....

Wateringbury, a charming village nestled between the towns of Maidstone and Tonbridge, is a close-knit community with plenty of local events, including a summer fayre and a Christmas panto, that bring residents together. The surrounding countryside is perfect for countryside walks or horse rides, and the marina at the bottom of the village offers a place to moor your own boat for those who love to cruise down the river. Local amenities include a primary school, a restaurant and bar, a public house, a convenience store, and a petrol station. The nearby County town of Maidstone boasts a wide range of retail, entertainment, and leisure facilities, as well as several state and grammar schools. With mainline train links via Maidstone East station, you can reach London in just over an hour. Additionally, the town has excellent road access to London via junctions 5, 6, and 7 of the M20.

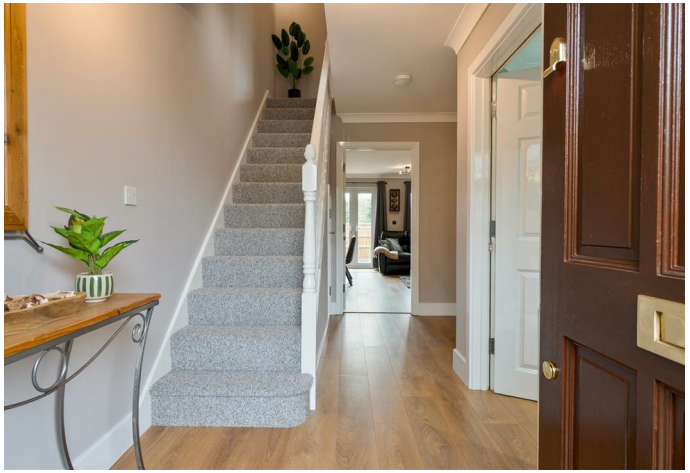

What the owner says.....

We came to Wateringbury on our first date and fell in love with the village surrounding countryside and of course riverside living. At the time the generous size of the house and layout was perfect for us. With 2 teenagers and us working in London the trainline was a definite bonus. Wateringbury has become very popular for visitors yet has maintained it's friendly village feel.
