Property walk through

Griggs Farmhouse is a splendid home providing both internal and external space that is both private and peaceful. The current owners have undertaken extensive renovations both inside and out to meet the requirements of modern living. When doing so their emphasis was on maintaining the integrity and character of the original buildings. This they have achieved. The Farmhouse exhibits solid oak wooden floors, bespoke "Heritage double glazed windows, contemporary bathrooms and a modern farmhouse kitchen with an "Aga" cooker at its heart. The accommodation is very flexible and caters for the needs of the modern or extended family, capable of incorporating an independent annexe suitable as a guest suite, home office or business facility.

The south facing garden is divided into a courtyard, and the original walled farmyard and stables now have a central lawn area with a terrace, border planting, footpath and patio areas. The property is nestled within the heart of this quiet village in the lee of St Laud's Church. Close by is a renowned local hostelry, The White Hart, dating from the 16th century. Alongside are the local village store and a coffee shop.

When entering the property there are doors off to the Sitting room and Family room. The sitting room has a truly majestic inglenook fireplace with an inset wood burning stove mounted over a paved hearth. Windows with window seats are located to two aspects and beams are exposed to the ceiling. Entering the family room a former inglenook with distinctive bressumer beam can be witnessed. This fireplace is now utilised as a useful recess. Again there is a window with seating and offset to the room is a study/office area with a window overlooking the garden. Continue to the garden room with double patio doors opening to the garden and a window supplementing the natural light. An inner hallway leads to a family bathroom and onward to the kitchen. The family bathroom has a three piece suite with a shower over the bath, storage cupboard and airing cupboard. The kitchen is of true farmhouse dimensions and is thoughtfully designed to include a vast array of cupboard units at base and high levels. A matching breakfast bar unit is also provided. Integrated to the kitchen are a dishwasher and gas hob with electric double oven. In addition there is a gas fired "AGA" oven which blends in seamlessly and lends itself to the visual impression of a true farmhouse kitchen. Exit the kitchen and enter the dining room with vaulted ceiling and built in cupboards. A window looks towards the garden. Adjacent is the utility room with a ceramic sink, wall mounted boiler and fitted units. Stable doors open to the garden.

At this point further accommodation can offer ancillary accommodation ideal for disabled access. Currently used as a study with garden access, large bedroom and bathroom. There is a self contained entrance door to the front but several options are available to suit the new owner. An independent gas fired boiler serves this area.

A staircase rises to the first floor where a large master bedroom awaits with superb en suite facilities. In addition there are two additional bedrooms both more than capable of accommodating at minimum a double bed. One of the bedrooms has its own closet en suite housing a WC and wash basin..

External features

Paved courtyard area with pergola covered terrace, planted border and gate to driveway. Shared gated entrance from the road to a gravel driveway and garage with parking for several vehicles. Planted border.

Enter the gardens with stone walling to one side and a gate opening into a delightful hard landscaped garden with sandstone coloured paving slabs forming a central circular design enveloped in its entirety by similar paving reaching to the borders. The second part of the garden has a central lawn with a flagstone surround. There is a raised terrace, long border for planting and a storage barn with a stable door and adjacent patio area. Second steps lead down to a further patio area.

This garden is extremely private and peaceful with a south facing aspect.
