This stone-built Georgian farmhouse manages a rare feat, it reflects its Georgian heritage while embracing a sleek, high-end modernization that feels entirely effortless and is a credit to its current owners. The ground floor offers amazing social space, you are welcomed into the delightful oak and glass entrance porch, a space that sets a tone of understated elegance and leads directly to the dining room which stands ready for formal hosting, while the adjoining sitting room offers a more relaxed but equally refined atmosphere for the evening retreat.

The heart of the home is the kitchen, a masterclass in design where contemporary utility meets farmhouse scale. Practicality is tucked away in the rear entrance hall which offers great coat and boot storage space leading to the discrete cloakroom with w.c., Finally, the welcoming snug serves as a cozy, intimate hideaway for quiet mornings with a coffee or lazy evenings in front of the log burner.

The first floor can be approached by one of two staircases, the traditional oak staircase which forms a feature of the dining room or, the circular staircase from the snug, a striking modern inclusion that adds an architectural flair to the home's flow.

The first floor is dominated by a truly spectacular master bedroom. This isn't just a restful space; it is a retreat featuring an open plan bath that feels more like a boutique spa which is complemented by the dedicated dressing room and private ensuite steam room for total decompression. Completing this floor are bedroom 2 and bedroom 3, both spacious and light-filled, alongside two bathrooms and a versatile study which serves equally well as Bedroom 6 for larger families or guests.

As you reach the top of the house on the second floor the architecture really highlights the building's heritage. Exposed roof timbers create a sense of rustic warmth and character. The second floor provides Bedroom 4 and Bedroom 5, quiet tucked-away spaces that incorporate the unique angles of the roofline along with a further shower room, ensuring the top floor remains entirely self-contained and convenient.

The tranquil south facing garden is an absolute delight with mature lawns and planting areas surround by stone walls and parkland fencing along with a number of entertaining and seating spaces. There's also more than enough parking along with a range of garages/workshops for secure storage or recreational use.

Hall Farm is a home that balances the grand proportions of the Georgian era with the sharp, clean comforts of the 21st century all located in one of the most picturesque villages in the East Riding.
