Property Details

This substantial six-bedroom period house offers close to 3,000 square feet of internal space, arranged over multiple floors with generous proportions throughout and a large private garden, presenting an exciting opportunity to modernise and create an impressive family home. Set behind an attractive façade, the property retains a wealth of character and scale, with two sizeable reception rooms featuring high ceilings and a bay window to the front, flooding the space with natural light. To the rear, a separate dining room leads to a kitchen with clear scope to reconfigure into an open-plan kitchen, dining and living space, subject to the usual consents, alongside a useful cellar for storage. The upper floors host six well-proportioned bedrooms across three levels, including a generous principal room, family bathroom, and a versatile second-floor layout with potential for multi-generational living or reconfiguration into a seventh bedroom. Further bedrooms are tucked beneath the eaves. The property offers a blank canvas for refurbishment, with a large private garden and off-street parking completing the appeal.
