independent property expertise

A fine Edwardian family home in arguably one of the best positions in the whole of Stone, in a quiet position on the edge of town with far reaching views over rolling countryside and yet still enjoying the convenience of having the town on the doorstep. The Beeches has undergone extensive refurbishment in its present ownership and has been transformed into beautifully presented and spacious family home which successfully blends the heritage of the original building with striking contemporary touches. The program of upgrading includes new double glazed windows throughout, electrical re-wiring, pressurised hot water system, bespoke kitchen and re-modelling of the top floor to provide an en-suite guest room and sixth bedroom, complemented by new carpets, decor and window dressings throughout. The Beeches occupies a large plot extending in total to approximately 0.6 acres with extensive lawn areas and plenty of opportunity for outdoor living. In our opinion arguably the finest house currently for sale in Stone and conclusive proof that it is possible to enjoy the best of both worlds.

Outside

The Beeches is the 'last house in Stone', located at the end of Oulton Road in an elevated position with far reaching views over open countryside. The house occupies a large, private plot extending to approximately 0.6 acres, approached over a long tree flanked driveway. There is parking to the front and rear of the house and a garage block with space to accommodate three cars ( double bay and a single bay) together with a mower shed. Great location within walking distance of the town centre, railway station and all the amenities Stone has to offer, and if you take a left at the end of the drive a short stroll will take you to Oulton village and the Downs Banks, which offers some of the finest dog-walking countryside in this part of Staffordshire.

Gardens

The gardens extend to three sides and are mainly lawn with borders formed by a variety of trees, shrubs and hedges. Secluded paved patio area to the side of the house with access from the sitting room and garden room.
