WHAT'S GREAT?

Oscar James is delighted to present this magnificent five-bedroom period residence, set in the heart of the highly sought-after village of Husbands Bosworth. Picturesque, well connected, and full of rural charm, the village offers excellent road links and a range of amenities, making it an enviable location.

Built in 1901 and rich with history, this exceptional family home has been lovingly restored, blending striking period character with thoughtful contemporary enhancements. The result is an inviting, beautifully balanced living environment that feels both timeless and functional.

A bright, welcoming hallway sets the tone on the ground floor, leading to two elegant reception rooms—currently arranged as a dining room and a lounge/snug. Each offers superb versatility, adapting easily to a variety of lifestyles. Towards the rear lies a modernised kitchen/breakfast room, supported by a utility room, W/C, and a practical boot/storage room.

On the first floor, the restored traditional banister immediately catches the eye. This level provides three generously proportioned bedrooms, including one currently used as a drawing room, along with a well-appointed family bathroom.

The second floor reveals two further superb bedrooms and a contemporary shower room with underfloor heating. Bespoke storage on the landing adds both elegance and everyday practicality.

Outside, a discreet gated driveway to the rear offers parking for at least two vehicles and leads into the charming rear garden. A mix of lawn and paved areas provides excellent outdoor space, with steps leading down to an outbuilding used for storage.

This is a rare opportunity to secure a remarkable five-bedroom family home—one that combines generous accommodation, captivating period charm, and modern refinements in perfect harmony.
