A charming end-of-terrace period home, well positioned in a particularly convenient setting and retaining a wealth of character and period features. The property benefits from a south-facing garden, garage and direct access to attractive riverside walks and the surrounding countryside.

A pretty front garden leads to the entrance hall and into a spacious open-plan sitting and dining room, centred around a wood-burning stove. To the rear, the galley kitchen has a useful side entrance and leads through to a garden room, with French doors opening onto the south-facing garden beyond.

The first floor provides two well-proportioned double bedrooms, together with a further single bedroom or study and a family bathroom with excellent built-in storage. A useful loft room provides additional versatile space and offers scope for further conversion, subject to the necessary planning and building consents.

The enclosed south-facing garden with mature planting and terrace with space for table and chairs. The property is particularly well placed for enjoying the surrounding countryside, with riverside walks accessible directly from the property, whilst the historic centre of Arundel is within easy reach.
