GENERAL COMMENTS

Rose Barn is a superb barn conversion forming part of the highly regarded former farmstead of Tregonhayne on the outskirts of Tregony. The setting is delightful, with the whole complex beautifully arranged and maintained, creating an immediate sense of charm and quality.

The property itself is immaculately presented, full of character, and far larger than first impressions might suggest — an internal viewing is strongly recommended to fully appreciate the space. The barn is approached by a charming bridge leading on from the enclosed outdoor seating area.

The accommodation comprises: a sitting room, kitchen, dining room, and cloakroom/W.C. on the ground floor. The lower ground floor provides excellent family space, with three double bedrooms, including one en-suite, a Jack and Jill family bathroom, and a utility room. In addition, a further double bedroom with en-suite occupies the first floor above the sitting room, offering versatility for guests or extended family.

Outside, Rose Barn enjoys private and enclosed gardens, a charming courtyard, and the benefit of parking and a garage. The property also shares attractive communal areas, including the entrance driveway and a gravelled turning space within the central courtyard.

LOCATION

Tregonhayne is situated just half a mile from the historic village of Tregony, a thriving community often referred to as “the gateway to the Roseland Peninsula.” The village retains a strong sense of community and offers a wide range of local amenities, including a modern primary school, secondary school, excellent Londis store, post office, nursery, doctor’s surgery, dental practices, public house, and numerous clubs and organisations.

The area is perfectly positioned for leisure and recreation, with the sandy beaches of Carne and Pendower close by, together with some of the finest sailing waters in the country. From St Mawes and the Percuil River, one can explore the spectacular Fal Estuary (Carrick Roads), Falmouth Bay, and the picturesque Helford River.

The Roseland Peninsula itself is designated an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and is celebrated as one of Cornwall’s most unspoilt and scenic regions. Its charming fishing villages, pretty hamlets, dramatic coastline, and golden beaches create an idyllic setting, while the nearby cathedral city of Truro, just 8 miles away, provides a comprehensive range of shopping, business, state and private schooling, and leisure facilities.
