GENERAL COMMENTS

Glenview is a very attractive period cottage located towards the top of Old Hill which is arguably the best location within Grampond Village. Whilst the cottage appears detached, it is in fact attached to a small one bedroom cottage. Glenview enjoys a lovely view over the village and retains many period features including exposed beams with modern additions including replacement double glazing in recent years. The accommodation includes two bedrooms and bathroom on the first floor with sitting room, dining room, kitchen and entrance porch downstairs. The sitting room has a woodburning stove and there is modern electric heating. Outside is a small enclosed front garden and a rear terrace for sitting out. A short distance away is a useful stone outbuilding for storage. Glenview has been in the same ownership for many years and is now being sold with vacant possession and no onward chain. An internal viewing is essential.

LOCATION

The village of Grampond lies on the A390 between Truro and St. Austell and offers a variety of local facilities for daily needs including shop, church, primary school and pub, village amenities cafe, village hall and doctors surgery. The village has the benefit of a regular bus service and is also close to the picturesque attractions of the Roseland Peninsula and the south Cornish coast. The city of Truro with its fine Cathedral, major shopping centre and main line railway link to London (Paddington) is about nine miles. St. Austell is about six miles. There are lovely country walks from Glenview including along the old Roman road to Probus.
