GENERAL COMMENTS

Mill House is a detached Victorian house, double-fronted and full of character, set in a quiet and tucked-away position away from the main thoroughfare in the highly regarded village of Ladock, in the heart of Cornwall. The property is notable for the stone construction with mellow brick lintels and quoins all under a slate roof.

Offering over 1,750 sq ft of beautifully presented accommodation, the property is light, spacious and well maintained throughout. Built in 1880 as the Mill House for the adjacent former mill, this is a classic four-square layout, the first floor provides four generous double bedrooms and a family shower room. On the ground floor, the entrance hall leads to a large lounge, a dual-aspect dining room, a well-appointed kitchen/breakfast room, utility room and bathroom. The home benefits from oil-fired central heating and double-glazed windows whilst character features include high ceilings, stripped four panel wooden doors and several feature fireplaces.

Outside, there is ample parking for several vehicles in addition to a good-sized garage and a courtyard offers a spot for afternoon and evening sun, while the landscaped gardens to the front of the house are both private and established, enjoying a sunny aspect and a wonderful sense of seclusion.

LADOCK

Ladock is a thriving community approximately six miles east of Truro city with a good range of village facilities including public house, primary school, parish church, and a village hall with regular clubs and activities. Probus is within a couple of miles of where there are further facilities and the Cathedral city of Truro which is renowned for its excellent shops, restaurants and main line railway line linking to London (Paddington). Ladock is ideally located for access to the south and north Cornish coasts and Newquay airport is approximately thirteen miles to the north.
