What the owner says

We've absolutely loved living here as a family.

The house has such a brilliant flow to it, in summer the sliding doors stay open and the kitchen, dining space and garden become one big social space, perfect for entertaining, family BBQs and children coming and going from the garden.

In winter, it completely changes character and feels incredibly cosy with the log burner lit. Being so close to Hove Park has been amazing for family life, and we've also worked hard to create a real sense of privacy so the garden and living spaces feel calm and secluded despite being so well connected.
