What the owner says

I discovered this tucked away quiet mews six years ago. The neighbours are delightful as is the location. The house is south facing and even in the winter the sun pours in.

Whilst it was converted in 2009 with superb insulation, so economical to run, I have upgraded the heating, electrics and first floor windows amongst other things. A lot of love has gone into making it into a lovely social place to live in.

There is no doubt that I will be sad to leave but am sure that the next owners will find it a happy home.
