Description

A home to make your own, in a village that feels like home.

There are villages you pass through, and there are villages that stay with you.

For me, this village holds something rather special. It is where so many of my own childhood memories were made; sledging down the hill behind the church, playing in the beck, roaming the orchard and simply disappearing outside for hours. It is the sort of childhood that stays with you.

Surrounded by countryside yet just five minutes from Southwell, it has a wonderful sense of community and a feeling that is increasingly hard to find.

And within it sits this 1950s three-bedroom semi-detached home, owned by the same family since it was built. A much-loved family home with good-sized rooms; downstairs a sitting room, kitchen, dining room and small rear conservatory, it now offers something particularly exciting: potential.

Extend to the rear, extend to the side (STP), rework the existing space or simply make it your own, room by room. There is plenty of parking, space for a garage if desired and, at the rear, a fabulous garden with room for family life, entertaining and growing.

At the bottom of the garden stands a beautiful Ash tree with its own story. The vendor grew up here, and one Sunday after lunch, her brother returned from a walk with a stick which he planted at the foot of the garden. That stick grew into the tree you see today.

It is a lovely reminder that this has never simply been a house. It has been a childhood, a family home and the backdrop to decades of memories.

Now it is ready for someone new.

Imagine waking to the morning mist rolling across the fields, becoming part of a genuinely wonderful village and, over time, creating a home that reflects the way you want to live.

For first-time buyers, growing families or those looking to downsize, this is a house with good space, a wonderful garden and exciting potential, in a village that feels like home. The next chapter is yours to write.
