Moorland Road

Situated in this quiet Cardiff neighbourhood is a beautifully presented three-bedroom maisonette that occupies a generous two-thirds of a handsome period house—space that's been thoughtfully transformed into a warm, character-filled retreat just minutes from the city centre.

With its own private entrance, the maisonette immediately sets itself apart. It feels more like a house than a flat, a sense reinforced as you move through its well-proportioned rooms that unfold across the upper two floors of the building. Light floods in from the bay windows, and high ceilings lend an airy, almost regal charm—especially where the window frames leafy views of the street below.

All three bedrooms are located on the first floor and offer generous proportions, each with its own inviting character. The main bedroom provides ample space for wardrobes and personal touches, while the two additional double bedrooms are equally well-sized—one nearly matching the master in scale—making them ideal as guest rooms, a nursery, home office, or creative studio.

At the very top of the property, an enormous converted loft has been cleverly adapted into a welcoming lounge. This additional living space really has the wow factor, spanning the entire footprint of the rooms below. With sunrises visible from the rear window and sunsets streaming in through the front two, the ever-changing light brings a calming atmosphere that feels worlds away from the bustle below—perfect for relaxing, reading, or entertaining.

The property will come with a share of the freehold, adding peace of mind for the future. There's on-street parking, excellent public transport connections, and an undeniable sense of community. Independent cafés and artisan bakeries are dotted nearby, with green spaces like Moorland Park just a short stroll away—perfect for morning walks or lazy weekend afternoons.
