Penrhiw Lane

This striking home sits in an elevated position on Penrhiw Lane, shaped by forty years of thoughtful redesign by its long-term owners and a respected local architect. The result is a house that feels anchored in its landscape, drawing natural light through the interiors and framing expansive views that sweep across Machen and reach towards the Bristol Channel. The flow between rooms creates a calm, intuitive living environment with generous glazing, raised terraces and landscaped gardens that encourage an easy connection between inside and outside.

Machen is one of Caerphilly's most desirable semi rural settings, known for its green hillsides, woodland walks and strong sense of community. The village provides everyday amenities, cafés, a well-regarded primary school and quick access to Cardiff, Newport and the M4. Nearby Caerphilly offers excellent secondary schools and speedy, regular train links direct to Cardiff Central. Caerphilly offers excellent amenities, including a busy town centre with shops and cafés and plenty of leisure options from parks and gyms to scenic walks around the castle and mountain. It's a well-connected town with everything needed for comfortable everyday living.

The house is well suited to family life with its balanced layout, multiple reception rooms and four bedrooms including a peaceful top floor suite with private balcony. The kitchen and dining area form the heart of the home, opening to a terrace perfectly positioned for evenings overlooking the valley. Tiered gardens, mature plantings and a separate timber studio complete the outdoor spaces, along with solar panels that contribute to energy efficiency. Thornycroft offers a sense of privacy while remaining easily connected, presenting a rare opportunity to live in one of the most picturesque corners of the county.
