Approached through timber gates and set within just under six acres of private grazing land, Mountain Road is an exceptional period Georgian house that combines timeless character with the lifestyle opportunities of a beautifully equipped equestrian home. Framed by mature gardens and enjoying far reaching views across the surrounding countryside, it offers a rare sense of privacy while remaining within easy reach of Cardiff and Caerphilly.

The house has evolved gracefully over time, retaining an abundance of original features including sash windows, herringbone parquet flooring, fireplaces, decorative corning and panelled walls. Generous proportions and an effortless flow create spaces that are equally suited to everyday family life and entertaining. At its heart is a beautifully appointed farmhouse kitchen centred around a traditional Aga, complemented by a Norcool corner larder fridge, and adjoining family room. A wing provides independent accommodation with its own kitchen, sitting room, bedroom and en suite, offering excellent flexibility for multi-generational living or guests.

Outside, the gardens unfold through a series of carefully designed spaces, with paved terraces, sweeping lawns, ornamental water features, an established orchard, productive vegetable gardens, greenhouses and secluded seating areas. Equestrian facilities include a four stable block, tack room, useful outbuildings and a detached studio, all served by grazing land extending to just under six acres.

Bedwas enjoys an enviable position between open countryside and the amenities of Caerphilly. The village offers everyday shops, cafés, well regarded schools and excellent road links, while nearby Caerphilly provides a wider selection of retail, leisure and rail services with direct connections to Cardiff.
