IF YOU LIVED HERE...

Set on the first floor, this well-arranged home opens into a particularly generous entrance hall—exceptionally wide and welcoming. The tiled flooring adds a smart, durable finish, while a built-in cupboard provides handy storage. There's also room here for additional furniture, making the most of the proportions. From the hallway, you can access every area, including the bathroom, which is finished in soft, neutral tiling. A frosted window brings in natural light while maintaining privacy, and a full-size bath completes the space with understated practicality. The kitchen, which links directly to the reception room, is well lit and thoughtfully laid out, with tiled flooring and cabinetry arranged for maximum efficiency. The contemporary worktop is made from HPL which is very durable, stain resistant and easy to clean. While currently in good condition, there's scope to refresh the surfaces in line with your personal style. The adjoining reception room offers an excellent footprint and is filled with daylight, thanks to large windows overlooking leafy surroundings. The neutral palette and open aspect into the kitchen make it well suited to relaxed evenings or social gatherings alike, with ample space for dining and lounging. Beyond this, the bedroom is quietly positioned at the rear of the layout. Light-filled and well proportioned, it features wide windows and a soft carpeted floor that brings warmth to the otherwise minimalist decor. The simple backdrop invites a range of interior styles, and the sense of space lends itself to a calm, comfortable retreat. The property offers a balanced blend of light, space, and versatility. The surrounding area offers a well-rounded mix of green space, local amenities, and everyday convenience. Just a short walk away, Café 104 is a welcoming spot to enjoy coffee or a light bite, while nearby high streets provide a range of shops, supermarkets, and services to make daily life easy. For outdoor space, Queen Elizabeth II Field offers open parkland ideal for walking, playing or simply getting a breath of fresh air. A little further afield, the beautifully landscaped Valentines Park is perfect for longer strolls, with ornamental gardens, lakes, and sports facilities. Adding to its appeal Valentines Park will soon have a new lido, opening next year. Altogether, the neighbourhood strikes a satisfying balance between natural calm and urban accessibility.

WHAT ELSE?
Barkingside Station is just twelve minutes away on foot, offering fast and frequent Central Line services that link directly to Stratford, Liverpool Street, and the West End, ideal for both daily commutes and weekend plans. The journey into central London is direct and efficient, making this a convenient base for anyone who values easy access to the city.
