This beautifully presented two bedroom ground floor converted flat offers a rare combination of character, comfort and accessibility. Completely level at the front for easy access, the property showcases high ceilings and an abundance of period features throughout, including exposed floorboards and a striking feature fireplace in the bay fronted sitting room. The accommodation is well proportioned and further enhanced by an extended lease term, providing peace of mind for years to come. To the rear, a large private garden creates an exceptional outdoor space, ideal for relaxing or entertaining. Situated in the sought after Upperton area, the property enjoys the charm of tree lined roads, nearby parks and the convenience of being within close proximity to the train station and town centre. This is an excellent opportunity to secure a characterful home in one of the area's most popular residential locations.

We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.
