We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

3 Bedroom 2 Reception 2 Bathroom

14 Fairfield Road, Eastbourne, BN20 7LR

This elegant Georgian style semi detached home offers generous and well balanced accommodation, approached via a private driveway with garage and a charming front garden, while to the rear sits a large, lawned garden ideal for families and entertaining. Internally, the property features a spacious and welcoming entrance hall with excellent storage, two comfortable sized reception rooms and a fitted kitchen with ample workspace. Additional ground floor benefits include a convenient WC, with the home further enhanced by double glazing and gas central heating throughout. Upstairs, the house provides three well proportioned double bedrooms, two of which benefit from built-in storage. The principal bedroom enjoys an en suite, complemented by a family bathroom serving the remaining rooms. Offered to the market vacant and chain free, this attractive home is located in the highly desirable Meads, where properties of this style and size are rarely available, making it an excellent opportunity in a sought after location.
