We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

7b De Walden Court, 51 Meads Road, Eastbourne, BN20 7QB

Occupying the top floor of the prestigious De Walden Court, a distinguished Grade II Listed residence dating back to the 1800s, this exceptional two bedroom apartment enjoys an enviable position in the heart of sought after Meads Village. Located just yards from an excellent selection of independent shops, cafés and local amenities, the property is also within easy reach of Eastbourne's picturesque seafront and mainline railway station. Presented in immaculate condition throughout, the apartment beautifully combines timeless period elegance with modern comfort. A wealth of original character features have been carefully preserved, creating a home of remarkable charm and distinction. The spacious sitting room is a particular highlight, featuring a stunning bay window together with an attractive open fireplace providing a superb focal point. The well appointed kitchen is fitted with quality cabinetry and granite work surfaces, offering both style and practicality. Both generous double bedrooms benefit from their own en-suite bathrooms, providing an excellent level of comfort and privacy, whilst a separate WC adds further convenience for guests. Externally, residents enjoy access to beautifully maintained and mature communal gardens, creating a tranquil setting that complements the grandeur of the building. This outstanding apartment seamlessly blends period character, quality finishes and a highly desirable location, offering a rare opportunity to acquire a truly elegant home within one of Eastbourne's most iconic historic buildings.
