We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

 GUIDE PRICE £425,000 - £450,000 ***
This exceptional three bedroom semidetached chalet bungalow has been thoughtfully extended, comprehensively renovated and stylishly presented throughout, creating an impressive contemporary home combining modern living with comfort and character. At the heart of the property is a stunning open plan kitchen and dining room, featuring sleek units and integrated appliances, providing an ideal space for family living and entertaining. A welcoming lounge with a charming log-burning stove offers a cosy retreat, while three generously proportioned bedrooms are complemented by a beautifully renovated family bathroom and separate contemporary shower room. Externally, the property enjoys a delightful private rear garden with an expansive decked seating area, ideal for outdoor dining and entertaining, together with a generous lawn. Planning permission was previously granted in May 2023 for a ground floor extension to the rear of the property, providing additional living and dining accommodation, offering further potential to enhance this already impressive home. Conveniently located within easy reach of local shops, schools and amenities, the property also benefits from excellent bus and mainline railway connections. The nearby Cuckoo Trail provides picturesque walking and cycling routes. An internal viewing is highly recommended to fully appreciate the exceptional standard of presentation, quality of accommodation and further potential this wonderful home has to offer.
