Set within an elegant period conversion in the heart of sought after Lower Meads, this beautifully presented hall floor apartment offers a perfect blend of classic architectural features and stylish contemporary living. Boasting high ceilings and an abundance of natural light, the apartment features a spacious open plan living room and kitchen, ideal for modern lifestyles. The living area is enhanced by a stunning double glazed bay window overlooking the rear garden, while a sleek breakfast bar subtly separates the kitchen from the lounge, perfect for casual dining or entertaining. The contemporary kitchen is well appointed with modern fittings and ample storage and a separate utility room just off the living area adds to the practicality of the space. Both double bedrooms are generously proportioned and benefit from their own stylish en-suite shower room/WC's, offering privacy and comfort. A separate guest WC completes the layout.

We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.
