We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

13 The Combe, Eastbourne, BN20 9DB

Situated within the highly sought after Ratton Estate, this impressive detached residence occupies a generous corner plot at the end of a peaceful cul-de-sac, offering a superb combination of space, privacy and versatility. Beautifully presented throughout, the property enjoys far reaching views across Eastbourne towards the coastline and South Downs. A particular feature is the separately accessed annexe, providing excellent flexibility for multi generational living, guests or independent accommodation. The annexe comprises an open plan lounge and kitchen, two bedrooms and a shower room. The main residence offers well proportioned and versatile accommodation, including generous reception areas and a spacious conservatory overlooking the beautifully maintained gardens. Outside, the mature gardens provide a private setting for relaxing and entertaining, while the substantial frontage offers ample off road parking for multiple vehicles. Ideally positioned close to excellent schools, local amenities, transport links, golf courses and the open spaces of the South Downs National Park, this is a rare opportunity to acquire a substantial and versatile home in one of Eastbourne's most desirable residential locations.
