OLIVERS MILL MORPETH NE61 1PP

A stunning and genuinely spacious, two bedroom first floor apartment, enjoying delightful views over the River Wansbeck, and perfectly positioned in the heart of Morpeth town centre.

Superbly maintained throughout, this impressive home offers well proportioned accommodation briefly comprising: a welcoming entrance hall, a generous lounge diner with a Juliet balcony overlooking the river, a fitted kitchen, two comfortable bedrooms, and a modern shower room/WC. The layout provides an excellent balance of living and sleeping space, ideal for professionals, downsizers or those seeking a centrally located home with scenic surroundings.

Externally, the property benefits from a residents-only car park, providing convenient off street parking. Being just steps from the town centre, it offers immediate access to a wide range of amenities including independent shops and national retailers, cafés, restaurants, traditional pubs, leisure facilities, and picturesque riverside walks. Morpeth also boasts excellent schooling options, healthcare services, and superb transport links, with a mainline train station offering direct services to Newcastle, Edinburgh and London, as well as easy access to the A1 for commuting.

The lease is currently in the process of being extended by 90 years and the property will be sold with approximately 156 years unexpired upon completion.

Available with no upper chain, this is an exceptional opportunity to acquire a beautiful riverside apartment in one of Northumberland's most sought after market towns.

Title contains restrictions or restrictive covenants

Here is a summary but a property lawyer can advise further: - Court-authority restriction (registered 2016): 'No transfer or sale by a sole registered proprietor (except a trust corporation) which gives rise to capital money is to be registered unless authorised by an order of the court.' Plain English: because the owners are trustees, if one trustee tried to sell the property on their own and money would be received, the sale cannot be registered at the Land Registry unless a court allows it. This protects the interests of the trust beneficiaries. If the trustees act together or a trust corporation is involved, the restriction will not block registration in the same way. - Lease prohibitions on dealing (alienation) — register note: 'There are excepted from registration all estates, rights, interests, powers and remedies arising upon, or by reason of, any dealing made in breach of the prohibition or restriction against dealings therewith contained in the Lease.' Plain English: the lease itself contains rules limiting certain dealings (for example transfer, assignment or subletting). If someone breaches those rules the resulting rights or interests created by that breach may not be protected by registration. You must read the lease to see exactly what is restricted (for example whether you need the landlord's consent to assign or sublet). - Obligation to surrender: the lease includes a note that the tenant (lessee) is obliged to surrender the lease in the circumstances stated in the lease. Plain English: there are conditions under which the tenant must give up the lease — check the lease to know what those conditions are.

Title contains beneficial rights or easements

Here is a summary but a property lawyer can advise further:- Any legal rights or easements granted by the registered lease(s): the register says the title includes any legal easements the lease grants and is subject to any rights the lease reserves. Plain English: the lease may give the flat rights (for example use of common hallways, right of access to services, or other shared rights) and may reserve rights for the landlord (for example to access parts of the building). No specific easements or rights are listed on the public register entries, so you should check the lease and the filed plan to see the exact rights or access arrangements.

Council Tax Band: C (Source gov.uk Checked March 2026).
