TENURE & COUNCIL TAX BAND

Freehold.

Title contains restrictions or restrictive covenants.

Here is a summary but a property lawyer can advise further:

The property is subject to 'restrictive covenants' listed in a 1983 legal document. These are rules that limit how the land can be used, such as preventing certain types of building work or stopping the property from being used for business purposes. There is a restriction regarding 'mines and minerals'. This means the owner does not own the materials deep underground and does not have the right to dig for them.

Title contains beneficial rights or easements

Here is a summary but a property lawyer can advise further:- The property benefits from 'easements'. These are legal rights to use or access parts of neighbouring land for specific reasons, such as for service pipes, wires, or access paths.

The property has the benefit of legal rights granted under the Housing Act 1980. These are standard rights often given to former Council properties to ensure they have all necessary access to utilities and services.

Council Tax Band: A (Source gov.uk Checked May 2026).
