LOCATION

Great Eversden is a picturesque and much-admired village situated approximately seven miles south-west of Cambridge, surrounded by beautiful open countryside yet ideally positioned for convenient access to the A10 and M11, making it an excellent choice for those commuting into Cambridge, London, or further afield. The village itself offers a friendly and traditional community atmosphere with amenities including a village hall, church, and a popular restaurant. Further day-to-day facilities are available in the nearby villages of Bourn, Comberton, and Barton, each offering a range of shops, public houses, and schools. The area is particularly well regarded for its access to highly rated educational establishments, both state and independent, within Cambridge and the surrounding area. For the London commuter, the nearest mainline railway stations are located in Foxton and Shepreth, approximately six miles away, both providing regular direct services to London King's Cross. Royston station is also within easy reach, offering additional fast and frequent services to London King's Cross and St Pancras in as little as 36 minutes.
