A Rare and Historic Opportunity – Substantial Period Residence with Self-Contained Annexe
Originally constructed circa 1850, this distinguished period property offers generous detached accommodation, thoughtfully enhanced by a self-contained two-bedroom apartment on the ground floor. Rich in heritage and character, the home was once occupied by Lady Kagan, wife of renowned textile magnate Joseph Kagan.

The property has undergone extensive restoration and sympathetic modernisation, including upgrades to insulation, soundproofing, electrics, and heating. The result is a stylish and contemporary home that retains its elegant original features, such as intricate ceiling coving, cornices, and ceiling roses—blending timeless charm with modern convenience.

The Main House

Positioned in a prime location just minutes from Brighouse town centre, the home enjoys a private setting behind mature trees, providing both accessibility and seclusion. The accommodation comprises: a welcoming entrance hallway, a stunning open-plan kitchen and dining area, two elegant reception rooms, four spacious bedrooms, two en-suite bathrooms, and a contemporary family bathroom. Externally, the home benefits from private side gardens and a shared driveway leading to the annexe below.
