Overview

Stables with about 3.25 acres.

Set off a quiet country lane a few hundred yards to the south-west of the rural village of Swimbridge, the village itself around its ancient parish church, with a popular village pub and busy parish community centre.

Barnstaple the ancient borough and administrative centre for North Devon is about 4 miles to the west with the expanding market town of South Molton some 7 miles to the east with both towns being of the A361 North Devon Link road which provides much improved access to and from the area.

The field, currently divided into 3 by post and rail fencing is on the north side of the country lane that runs westwards between Swimbridge and the small cluster of properties at Hannaford.

The land is level/very gently sloping, nearly all in pasture with a very lightly wooded area to its north-west corner were there is also has a small stream running inside its boundary.

Inside the road gate there is a hardened car parking and turning area of which is a timber, former garage now used as a feed store with a separate concrete loafing yard with post and rail fencing in which there is a pair of purpose-built timber stables with front overhang and stable doors. There is a further gate to the west end of the land.
